Bates, marched to the soldiers' monument at the foot of Academy Park, where the following program was carried out: Prayer, Rev. George E. Goodliffe; Major Bates gave a few remarks to the boys, after which he introduced the speaker, Congressman F. G. Fleetwood, who gave a splendid address; salute was given, guns were sounded and at 11 o'clock heads were bowed in silent prayer, after which the church bells were tolled for 15 minutes. The exercises closed by rendition of the national anthem by the band.

Gentlemen's Night

The Delta Alpha Class and their guests to the number of 90 were most pleasantly entertained at the Methodist Church parlors Nov. 1, this annual event having been changed from the month of February to November.

The rooms presented a most attractive appearance, all the decorations being appropriate to Haloween, the light being furnished by Jack-o'-lanterns.

An orchestra composed of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lawson, Philip King and Ruth Lawson rendered several selections.

Games were interspersed with musical numbers, consisting of piano solos by Marion Benson, solo by Mrs. Ida Terrill and a duet by Miss Nita Ellis and Mrs. Glee Raymore.

The executive committee who had charge of gentlemen's night, presented a very amusing farce.

Delicious refreshments of salmon, piglet, welsh rarebit, olives, assorted cake and coffee were served.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, and one long to be remembered by all present.

Minnie May Fitch, one of six children of Cordilla Waller and Esther A. French Fitch, was born in this town June 13, 1863. Her education was received in the rural schools and at Peoples Academy, being a graduate of the latter institution. She was also graduated from the Boston Conservatory, where she took a course in music and arts. She taught successfully in the intermediate department of the graded schools for several years.

On October 14, 1891, she was united in marriage to William F. Steele, and to this union was born one child, a daughter, Rebecca Esther, who died in infancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele lived for several years in Utah, Wyoming, and Nebraska and Washington. While in Washington Mrs. Steele was employed as instructor of Indians on an Indian reservation.

For the past two years the deceased had been in poor health and for 12 weeks had been confined to the bed, suffering from cancer.

She is survived besides her husband by two brothers, Walter Cordilla Fitch of Mays Landing, N. J., and Willie Jate Fitch of this village.

Mrs. Steele was a member of the Congregational Church, where she had always been a very active worker. She was teacher of the Unity Club of the church and for years was a helper in the Christian Endeavor. She was also a member of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Order of the Eastern Star.

"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." Shall not this, then, be alike her epitaph and eulogy, this friend of ours, who, by weary paths of pain, has come at last to the shining uplands of the Spirit.

Two qualities (found more often than we suspect, in human character), present strikingly in the character of our friend, reveal the presence of God.

The second quality, revealing the presence of God, is willing ability to encourage and help those who are weak or lacking in faith.

"Somehow, when she spoke Within the weary heart new courage woke:

Forgotten was the aching muscle-strain Of plodding feet, and lagging paddle stroke: The sullen future turned a comrade face, The grim world seemed a kindly camping place, The trail-end grew a gladder thing to gain."

"And as she passed the last, far, hill-blue turning Of life's long trail, against the sunset burning, Many may say, 'I saw her campfire's flame Gleam through the dark, as up the trail I came Footsore and discouraged: and found rest.'"

God was so immanent in her life, in patient, optimistic courage, in sacrificial helpfulness, that, no matter what fuller revelation of God, "the dawn light has shed for her upon the trails of the Hereafter," she will walk there, fearless and unafraid.
